Fleet Bombarding Japan; Armada 5 Miles Off Shore

Halsey's Ships Outride Terrific Pacific Storm; 21 Vessels Damaged

GUAM, Saturday, July 14.—(AP)—A typhoon which tossed battleships about like match sticks struck the American Third Fleet between the Philippines and Okinawa on June 5 and damaged more than 21 warships.

But most of Adm. William F. Halsey's mightiest naval armada in history steamed on to attack Japan three days later.

But most of Adm. William F. Halsey's mightiest naval armada in history steamed on to attack Japan three days later.

Howling down at 104 to 138 miles an hour, the typhoon damaged three battleships, five carriers and other ships. It damaged more ships than the Japanese have been able to damage in any single naval engagement.

Pacific fleet headquarters announced that all have returned to action except one—the new heavy cruiser Pittsburgh, which lost a 100-foot bow section but was able to limp back to Guam unassisted.

Not a ship went down. Only one life was lost in the entire fleet, which was scattered for 125 miles by the storm.

OPERATIONS UNSLOWED

A delayed dispatch from United Press War Correspondent Ernest Hoberecht, who rode through the storm aboard the carrier flagship of Vice Adm. John S. McCain, task force commander under Halsey, said the loss of only one life was "in itself a miracle."

"The storm failed to stop operations against Japan and we continued our offensive action," he said.

Some units were forced to turn back, but others proceeded toward Japan, where on June 8 carrier planes hit Kamoya airfield on Kyushu, destroying 30 planes.

Battleships damaged in the typhoon, which struck the fleet some 900 miles northwest of Guam, were the Massachusetts, Indiana and Alabama. Other victims were the heavy carriers Hornet and Bennington; the light carriers San Jacinto and Belleau Wood; the escort carrier Bougainville, the destroyers John Rodgers and Blue, three other cruisers besides the Pittsburgh and seven destroyers. Other warships also were damaged but the Navy did not list them. The front edges of the flight decks of two carriers were damaged.

PARTY OF "TOKYO" FLEET

Indicating the speed with which the fleet recovered from a blow that dealt out damage faster and more effectively than the Japanese have been able to, four of the damaged warships were announced earlier this week as being part of the mighty fleet which attacked Tokyo on Tuesday. They were the Massachusetts, Indiana, San Jacinto and John Rodgers.

It was the second time Halsey's fleet had to fight infuriated nature harder than the Japanese. In December, east of the Philippines, his force lost three destroyers when a storm struck while it was returning from supporting the American landings on Mindoro in the Philippines.

Thus the so-called "kamikaze" or "divine wind" twice has failed

Meat? We-e-ll Processor Stalls a Bit

By BILL BORING.

James A. Hamilton came in from Chicago yesterday to blow hot and cold on a No. 1 Atlanta subject—meat.

And he should know. He's vice president of one of the nation's biggest meat processors, Wilson & Company.

Regarding your chances of sinking molars into a steak any time soon—they're slim.

"There may be a little more meat in the market in the next few months," he said, "but not enough to cause excitement."

The situation looks bad and won't look good until our big job of winning the war is done, he said.

But why talk of unpleasant things. Hamilton hit a more optimistic note.

"I have been impressed immensely," he said, "by the new stepped-up tempo of business and agricultural activity in the south.

"Particularly have I been impressed by the change in agriculture. Gone, it seems, are the days of the one-crop system."

He spoke of Georgia's new emphasis on raising beef cattle for the commercial market.

"There's no reason in the world why this movement shouldn't pay off in increasingly large dividends. There's no reason at all why Georgia, with its ample pasturages, shouldn't become as much a cattle-producing state as some in the middle west."

Hamilton said the eyes of the nation's business leaders are focused on the south as a land of new economic opportunity.

"The south seems alive with new activity," he said. "I have never seen such a remarkable transformation in such a short period of time."

Already, he recalled, his company has branched out in Georgia. It operates a large chicken freezing plant in Cumming.

Food and meat processing plants, according to H. E. Dennison, director of economic and industrial research of the state engineering experiment station of Georgia School of Technology, hold much industrial promise for the state.

Already 54 towns in this area have expressed an interest in building canning plants for the commercial market in the post-war era.

'NO GOOD PEOPLE'

War With Japan Seems Certain To Average Red Soldier in Berlin

By PIERRE J. HUSS.

BERLIN, July 13. — (INS)—Ivan, the rank and file Red Army soldier in Berlin, takes it for granted that sooner or later he is going to fight Japan.

"They are no good people," was the typical comment of one Russian soldier.

"The Japanese are just like the Germanski," commented another. "They need a bad lesson."

Red Army officers were more cautious when questioned. They repeatedly pointed out that Japan could be underestimated, even as the Germans underrated Russia.

These officers said they knew for a fact that Japanese armies on the Siberian border totaled a million men. "We can whip the Japanese army, but it's not our job to start a war," one said.

Although the Russians historically have old grievances against Japan, there is not much volunteer talk among the Soviet soldiers in Berlin on Russian-Japanese relations. This topic, however, is the uppermost war subject among Americans and Britons.

Soldiers of all three nations are looking forward to the Big Three meeting with equal curiosity. Soviet officers are surprisingly well informed about American affairs. Those interviewed seemed to know all about our elections and President Truman's succession.

Despite the anti-Japanese spirit apparent among the Soviet rank and file the Russians maintained a "correct" attitude toward Japanese interests in the occupation of Berlin.

Reliable informants said Ambassador Hiroshi Oshima fled from Berlin just before the Russians broke into the capital.

He appeared to be obsessed with the idea that the Russians might clap him in irons or that he might "disappear" en route to Tokyo through Siberia. He was picked up in the American sector and sent to the United States for repatriation.

25,000 GIs in England Rushing Air Material for East to Ships

WARRINGTON, England, July 13.—(UP) Twenty-five thousand troops of the Air Service Command are working at top speed today to get billions of dollars' worth of critical airforce equipment back into the fight.

From this headquarters, men have hurried to the far corners of this island packing for transport on aircraft carriers everything the heavy bombers of the Eighth Airforce couldn't take with them. This material is assembled here for shipment around the world to join the bombers in Far Eastern bases.

Left-over fighter planes are disassembled, smeared with protective coating and loaded aboard specially constructed Liberty ships. Baby flat tops and these Liberty ships have carried nearly 400 Thunderbolt and Mustang fighter boxes to sea, 500 more are soon to go and an additional 1,000 may follow.

CRITICAL ITEMS MOVED

This supply "blitz" is moving 1,500 especially critical items urgently needed in the Far East, including 2,550 aircraft engines. Another urgent category is the "air corps special purpose equipment"—specially constructed trucks, extra long trailers, gasoline trucks, salvage trucks, gigantic mobile cranes to lift the heavy bombers, fire trucks needed immediately for the hundreds of bases being constructed on Pacific islands.

These are critical items, but the Air Service Command is moving 200,000 items representing billions of taxpayers' dollars. A sample item is 90,000 parachutes valued at $11,000,000, which receive very careful treatment.

CONTINENT GETS SOME

Most of this tonnage is going to the Far East, but 100,000 tons have been shipped to the continent for use by the occupation air force.

Col. George T. Urbani, Sacramento, Cal., said "we're trying to get everything into use—not necessarily for the United States forces, but for the Allied war machine."

After the needs of outfits still in business are filled, inventories of non-critical items will be sent to Air Technical Service Command headquarters in Dayton, Ohio. This headquarters will determine what materials are worth shipping back to the United States and when. The items for which the air force has no further use will be turned over to the Surplus War Property Administration in the United Kingdom.

This whole project will not be completed until February of next year.

Fulton Chief Urges Curfew for Juveniles

A 10 p. m. curfew for boys and girls under 18 years of age would go far toward curbing juvenile delinquency in Fulton county, according to Chief C. E. Mitchell, of the Fulton county police department.

"I think that a curfew law would be helpful at this time," Mitchell said. "It would curb juvenile delinquency, which is one of our major problems.

"When policemen are patroling, they see plenty of teen-age boys and girls out at all hours of the night," the chief continued. "When a patrolman suggests that they go home, he gets the horselaugh. The policeman is handicapped then because there's no law against the young people staying out all night.

"The trouble with the kids now is that they think they must have the same privileges that adults have. When their fathers and mothers go out and stay late in the night, the kids think they should be able to live the same way.

"I know that most of the dances and entertainment that the teen-agers attend don't end until much later than 10 p. m.," the chief said, "but maybe that's one thing that's wrong—there've been too many dances."

Policemen can arrest 'teen-agers if they are caught violating a law, Mitchell said, but they cannot make them go home if they keep late hours.

"When I became chief, I thought that a crime prevention bureau would be a good addition to the police department," he added. "When a child makes a mistake and is brought before the court, he often feels an outcast from other children. If that boy could be routed into a group of good kids, he'd probably be all right.

"If all the civic organizations would co-ordinate their efforts to provide recreational centers and other forms of properly supervised entertainment for 'teen-agers, the problem might be solved," he said.

"It seems to me that there's been too much talk and not enough done," he concluded.

Neal's Former Clerk In Bartow Acquitted

By DAVE SNELL,
Constitution Staff Writer.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., July 13.—A. C. Jolly, former clerk to the Bartow county commissioner, was acquitted of a charge of embezzlement by a jury in Bartow county superior court here today. He had resigned as clerk to Commissioner A. V. Neal last January.

Jolly, indicted several weeks ago on charges of embezzling $6,200 of county funds, went on trial here this morning. When the jury returned its verdict, spectators in the crowded courtroom shouted and clapped their hands. The demonstration lasted for several minutes.

At the hearing, practically all evidence produced by the auditing firm of Respess & Respess, whose report resulted in the indictment, was ruled out by the court. The auditor's report, it was brought out, was obtained from records of the United States Fidelity and Casualty Company, surety bondsmen for Jolly. This evidence, which consisted of photostatic copies of the company's records, was ruled out because the auditors had not seen the original record.

Moist, Thundrous Weekend Forecast

Today's temperature will be a little higher than yesterdays' 82 degrees. The expected high is 82 degrees, and the expected low is 69.

There were light showers throughout the state yesterday, but no heavy rains. The showers were more numerous on the coast. The low yesterday was 70 degrees.

1,000 Carrier Planes Join In Main Island Blow

GUAM, Saturday, July 14.—(UP)—U. S. Pacific fleet warships are bombarding the Japanese homeland for the first time in the war and carrier aircraft are attacking northern Honshu and Hokkaido, it was announced today.

The mighty force of warships, including some of the greatest battleships and cruisers in the world, turned its big guns against Kamaishi, 275 miles northeast of Tokyo. It was indicated the fleet may be bombarding from as near as five miles from shore.

Vice Adm. William F. Halsey is in overall command of the attacking units of the Third fleet—mightiest naval force in history.

Fleet Adm. Nimitz, in an unprecedented action, issued three communiques to detail the latest blows being dealt to Japan. His first communique reported the still-continuing attack on Hokkaido and northern Honshu; his second disclosed that 342 enemy planes had been destroyed or damaged in Tuesday's carrier plane raid on Tokyo; and his third—released six hours after the first—told of the surface force attack.

The weight of American gunfire was plastering the Japanese mainland even as Nimitz made his triumphant announcement.

Rear Adm. J. F. Schraoff is in tactical command of the bombardment group, which includes the mighty battleships U. S. S. Massachusetts, Indiana and South Dakota, the cruisers Chicago and Quincy, and the destroyers Sutherland, Harriman, Arvin and Black.

PERSONAL REPLY

The bombardment of Japan was the Pacific fleet's personal reply to the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941. Three and one half years after the enemy's sudden raid plunged the U. S. into war, the world's greatest battle force of warships had carried the war right back to the Japanese empire.

Japan's homeland was now brought under the direct gunfire of American naval craft—an unparalleled achievement for fleet forces. Never before had any force dared to steam so boldly into enemy waters to batter hostile shores.

But Japan's inability to challenge the two carrier-borne air strikes during the last five days indicated that her air force was incapable of defending even the homeland from naval assault.

The port of Kamaishi is approximately 175 miles south of the northern tip of Honshu. Some of Halsey's biggest warship apparently split off from the carrier task group, which was assaulting Hokkaido and northern Honshu, to bring the mainland coast under fire.

CLOSE IN

Twenty miles is regarded as the extreme effective range of the 16-inch guns of the battleships, so the fact that cruisers and destroyers were named indicated that presumably the bold bombardment force was much closer in—within the range of the destroyers' five-inch guns, possibly five miles.

Japan's mainland felt the weight of direct American gunfire as more than 1,000 carrier planes swarmed over the northern homeland in unopposed attacks.

The Tsuguru strait between Hokkaido and Honshu was turned into a death-trap for enemy vessels. A number of Japanese ships were reported set afire. The planes roared through mists which had cloaked the approach of the warships and pin-pointed their targets.

There had been no attempt by the Japanese to strike back at the gigantic fleet by noon—nearly eight hours after the first planes winged over the two islands at dawn.

Two communiques disclosed that Halsey's fleet had gone into action again and also gave the first complete report on damage wrought in Tuesday's 12-hour assault against the Tokyo area.

Halsey, the "Bull of the Pacific," who has fought the Japanese right into their home waters, is present in direct overall command of the fleet force now standing off Japan some 450 miles north of Tokyo.

The Japanese were caught completely by surprise today as they were Tuesday. Waves of Hellcats, Avengers, Corsairs and Helldivers roared out to blast the northern area, previously untouched by carrier planes.

Hokodate, key Hokkaido port, was one of the main targets for the assault and the carrier airmen apparently did their job well. The Aomuri vehicular-rail ferry across the Tsugura strait and shipping in the area also were under heavy attack.

The new carrier assault was still continuing as Fleet Adm. Nimitz detailed the damage in the Tokyo raid Tuesday.

He listed a total of 342 aircraft blasted—109 destroyed on the ground, 231 damaged aground and two shot out of the air. This added 188 planes to the toll. Nimitz previously had announced 154 damaged or destroyed.

Four vessels were sunk or damaged, a freight train was damaged and a power house at Yatabe was damaged.

Chinese Forces Close On 2 Jap-Held Bases

Chinese forces broke into Kanhsien at 6 p. m. Thursday, and "street fighting is continuing," a second Chinese communique as broadcast by the Chungking radio and recorded by the FCC declared today.

The United Press said the Chinese were only seven miles from Kweilin. Both are former U. S. air bases.

Japanese defenses on the perimeter of the vast Sambodja oil field in southeast Borneo have collapsed, an Allied headquarters spokesman announced today, under the intense pressure of the Seventh Australian Division pushing northwest from Balikpapan.

STRIKE AT SINGAPORE

The Aussies in a four and a half mile gain are more than 20 miles north of Balikpapan oil port, captured shortly after their invasion July 1, and latest reports put them at Bangsal, nine miles south of the town of Sambodja, heart of the oil field.

A British naval and air strike at Nicobar islands and Sumatra, west of Borneo and outposts of Singapore naval base, was reported yesterday by Southeast Asia headquarters. They gave color to Japanese radio speculations of an impending Allied invasion to recapture Singapore.

Reporting on fighting in northwestern Borneo, Gen. MacArthur said the Ninth Australian Division pushed steadily forward north of the Brunei bay area in the drive toward Jesselton, Japanese-held port.

JAPS BEG PLANES

Lt. Gen. Saburo Endo, official of the Japanese munitions ministry, urged the government to give "absolute priority" to production of planes. The key to Nipponese victory lay in attaining air supremacy, he said.

Japan intends to continue fighting, and American reports of unofficial Nipponese peace feelers are "absolutely without foundation," Sadao Iguchi, spokesman for the Japanese board of information, said in Tokyo.

Iguchi declared that recent remarks by U. S. Undersecretary of State Grew that underground Japanese peace overtures had been made reflected "unmistakable war weariness among the American people."

In China, Maj. Gen. Kuo Chi-chih, Army spokesman, said there was a possibility that the Japanese were withdrawing from the south China coast area, from Indo-China to the vicinity of Hongkong.

United Nations Charter Gets Approval of Senate Group

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(UP) The Senate Foreign Relations Committee stamped its approval on the new World Security Charter by a vote of 20 to 0 today after completing a week of hearings on the historic document and Chairman Tom Connally, Democrat, Texas, said that floor debate on ratification will start July 23.

Three committeemen, Sens. Hiram Johnson, Republican, California, arch foe of the old League of Nations; James E. Murray, Democrat, Montana, and Hendrik Shipstead, Republican, Minnesota, did not vote. Connally said they would be recorded later if they desire.

Murray is expected to vote in favor of the treaty but the positions of Johnson and Shipstead are uncertain. They have not yet said what they think of the United Nations blueprint to prevent future wars.

Connally said the treaty will be formally reported to the senate next Monday. He said the one-week delay in starting debate was decided upon to give all senators an opportunity to study the voluminous record of public testimony and thus expedite floor consideration.

He could only make a guess on the length of the floor debate but he doubted that it would run more than 10 days in contrast to the long and ultimately futile arguments for senate ratification on the Versailles treaty a quarter century ago.

Formal hearings ended with a final plea for senate ratification without "reservation or dissent."

The plea came from John Foster Dulles, the chief adviser to the American delegation at the San Francisco conference. Dulles, who had much to do with the charter's formulation, said that lack of unity among the Allies after the last war was one cause of the present conflict.

Before debate opens the senate will dispose of the Bretton Woods monetary agreement—an important adjunct of the world peace plan—the reconversion tax bill and other routine matters.

"This," said Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley, "will clear the decks for the charter."

Behind the committee is a week of hearings in which few voices were raised against the document which was drafted after eight weeks of arduous labor at San Francisco. State Department officials and former Secretary of State Edward D. Stettinius Jr. opened the hearings by urging prompt ratification. Dulles also had this in mind.

"Germany and Japan were the peril that drew us together," he said. "With the complete defeat of Germany and Japan that peril will seem to have disappeared."

"Then our unity, too, will have disappeared unless we find new, compelling tasks to pursue in common. It is such tasks that the San Francisco charter proposes to the United Nations."

FEWER POINTS, TOO

More Butter For Civilians Next Month

Housewives who have been serving their families butterless bread for the past several months received words of cheer yesterday when Andrew Farmer, regional OPA food rationing officer, announced that the point value on butter would "drop slightly" July 29.

The point reduction will be possible, it was explained, because government set-aside orders for August have been reduced 30 per cent as a result of revised war requirements.

Farmer added that it had "not yet been determined just how much of a cut there will be," but added it was "assuredly on the way."

It was on last October 1 that OPA hiked the point value of butter from 16 to 20 points a pound, and the day after Christmas reset it at the present high of 24 points.

In conjunction with this news for homemakers, Dr. T. S. Berry, OPA regional chief food analyst, pointed to figures showing why it has been difficult to get even that first pat of butter at home or in restaurants.

According to OPA and Department of Agriculture figures, milk production in America is now at an all-time record high. But butter production is only 82 per cent of average.

By contrast, the following dairy products, all of which use butterfat, have assumed these astronomical percentages above their average pre-war production figures:

American cheese—173 per cent above average.

Condensed milk—284 per cent above average.

Dried whole milk—1,086 per cent above average.

Stalin, Soong Confer Again

MOSCOW, July 13.—(UP)—Premier Stalin conferred last night, probably for the last time, with Chinese Premier-Foreign Minister T. V. Soong and W. Averell Harriman, American ambassador, conferred with Soong this morning before he left for the Big Three meeting.

It was learned that Harriman had been watching Soong's activities here closely and was keeping the State Department informed of his talks, to which diplomatic quarters attached the highest importance.

Harriman was believed to be the only foreign diplomat who knew the actual course of Soong's negotiations.

During his visit Soong has had five long talks with Stalin in addition to an opening courtesy meeting. Each talk lasted two hours or more. Foreign Commissar Viacheslav Molotov was always present.

STORM

to deliver for the Japanese as it did in 1281 when a typhoon struck the invasion fleet of the Mongol conqueror Kublai Khan, sinking 4,000 of his 4,500 junks and drowning 130,000 of the 150,000 men he was bringing to invade Japan. For that reason, the Japanese call typhoons "kamikaze," the name they apply to their suicide planes.

GALLANT CREW

The damage to most of the listed ships included the ripping of superstructures. By far the heaviest sufferer was the Pittsburgh, a 13,000-ton cruiser in action less than a year. But a gallant crew saved her.

It brought her 900 miles to Guam under her own power, and she is now being repaired at another port. Of the Baltimore class, the Pittsburgh has an overall length of 665 feet and thus nearly one-sixth of her length was torn off and whipped away in the boiling seas. The bow later was recovered.

For almost an hour and a half the massive waves beat over the Pittsburgh's superstructure, starting about 4 a. m. Then the bow broke away. Capt. John Gingrick, Dodge City, Kan., swore softly and went to work to save his ship.

The crew had a 10-minute warning that the bow was about to go. All men scrambled from the forward section.

BOW CRACKS

The bow cracked away almost back to the first gun turret as two tremendous seas rolled over the cruiser. Not one of the more than 1,000 men aboard was lost. The watertight doors had been set for the storm.

Twenty officers and men went forward. With only a quarter-inch bulkhead between them and the lashing seas they worked five hours in knee-deep water and oil and shored up the bulkheads with timber.

Then the Pittsburgh—the ship that towed the carrier Franklin to safety when it was a "flaming wreck only 50 miles off Japan in February—turned for Guam, making 8½ knots. It reached here five days later. The bow was towed in a week later.

When the typhoon struck the Third Fleet had been back in action only about a week. It took over from the Fifth Fleet on May 27 and started out by hitting Kyushu airfields on June 2.

Cop, Sentenced As Burglar, Blames Police

LOS ANGELES, July 13—(UP) The Los Angeles police force today was described as a "crime school" by one of two officers sentenced to one to 15 years in San Quentin prison for burglary.

"I would never have done this if I had not been on the police force," Howard C. Wade, 33, told Judge Charles W. Fricke. "I suppose I got the habit when other officers who were arresting drunks would take their money and split it with me."

Wade and William A. Ehrler, 39, were sentenced after a quick trial. The uniformed burglars were caught when a service station operator trapped them at his station loading boxes of spark plugs into a patrol car.

Police Chief C. B. Horrall was unperturbed by Wade's story.

"Obviously it was false and was told for the purpose of getting him a lighter sentence," Horrall said. "Our men do go wrong sometimes, but the record shows that we are the ones who correct them."

Horrall said Wade was on the force but a short time.

"If he learned what he said he did, he must have been an apt pupil," he said.

Wade's charges came as two fellow-officers awaited trial on criminal charges growing out of recent episodes.

Detective Sgt. Hebert A. Skaggs was accused of accepting a $500 bribe to "fix" an assault charge against former Auto Racing Champion Kelly Petrillo, and Officer Monte Sehrman was charged with stealing money from a brother officer posing as a drunk.

An officer was dismissed last week for unprovoked assault upon a motorist.

Within the past few years, local officers have been charged with brutality toward prisoners, as well as with occasional thefts.

Mayor Gamble Of Savannah Dies, Aged 77

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 13.—(AP)—Mayor Thomas Gamble, of Savannah, Ga., died of a heart attack today while vacationing at a Signal Mountain resort.

The 77-year-old executive, serving his 11th year as head of Savannah's city government, came here July 9 to rest at a home operated by a Catholic order.

He complained of feeling ill yesterday and a physician diagnosed the trouble as coronary thrombosis. He remained in his room at the Alexian Brothers rest resort yesterday. A member of the Alexian order was at his bedside when the fatal attack came today.

Members of his family were en route here to arrange for transfer of the body to Savannah.

NATIVE OF VIRGINIA

Mayor Gamble was a native of Richmond, Va. He went to Savannah in 1888 as a reporter for the old Savannah Daily Times after serving as a reporter on the Philadelphia Press and Enquirer. He was named city editor of the Savannah Evening Press in 1891 and later served as editor and publisher of the Effingham County News and Bryan County News.

He left Savannah in 1907 to become editor and publisher of the Times-Recorder in Americus, for a period of five years.

Gamble served as secretary to the mayor of Savannah for several years and in 1926 he was elected mayor of Savannah Beach. In 1933 he was elected mayor of Savannah, serving until 1936. He was re-elected in 1939.

50 YEARS AS EDITOR

The Savannah mayor was rounding out 50 years of service as editor and publisher of the weekly Naval Stores Review, trade publication.

He was the author of a number of books, including histories of the naval stores industry, and the city government of Savannah, and a book on Savannah duels and duelists.

Survivors include two sons, Weldon Gamble, of Savannah, and William K. Gamble, Atlanta; a daughter, Mrs. Roy S. Carr, Savannah, and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Spain Cabinet Changing To Appease U. N.

MADRID, July 13.—(AP)—A high government official said tonight that Generalissimo Franco has dropped the secretary-general of the Falange party from the Spanish cabinet, apparently in a move to make the government more acceptable to the United Nations.

The resignations of at least four other cabinet members, all presumably members of the Falange, were reported to be on Franco's desk awaiting action.

Franco ousted the Falange secretary, Jose Luis Arrese, by eliminating the position of minister without portfolio, the government official said.

There was no public confirmation of his report.

Arrese, a Basque who joined the Falange in 1933, predicted a cabinet shakeup in a speech on June 18 and said it would make no difference in Falange plans for "the conquest of the state" through national syndicalism. He retains his party position under Franco, "supreme head" of the Falange.

NOT NERO BUT— FIDDLING GOES ON

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—A good many State Department employes are uncertain about their prospects pending the return from Berlin of the new secretary, James F. Byrnes.

This has led one department wit to coin a phrase which has gained wide circulation:

"The State Department fiddles while Byrnes roams."

Federal Drug Charges Lodged Against Garant and Phillipses

By STERLING SLAPPEY,
Constitution Staff Writer.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., July 13.—Federal charges of selling morphine and opium not pursuant to an order form were lodged here this afternoon against Edward Collins Garant, "the needle man of the mountains," Dr. Hugh Kingsley Phillips, White county coroner, and Mrs. Chlorene Phillips, Helen postmistress and wife of Dr. Phillips.

United States Commissioner Joe K. Telford, of the Gainesville division, northern Georgia district, set bond for Garant at $1,000. Billy Brandt, former Atlanta lawyer, signed the bond. Bonds for Dr. and Mrs. Phillips have not been set, but warrants for their arrest were issued this afternoon.

Charges against the three well known White county residents are scheduled to come before the next session of the federal grand jury which meets on the fourth Monday in November. The next session of federal court will begin the same day.

T. E. Guerard, federal narcotic investigator, who was summoned to the case by Edmond L. Norton, investigator for the Georgia Bureau of Investigation, seized, under orders, a 1939 model coupe automobile belonging to Garant this morning.

Dr. Phillips is at liberty under a $1,000 bond on state charges of abortion. Garant posted another bond Saturday in White county on charges of administering drugs without a license, and a warrant for Mrs. Phillips was taken yesterday by Investigator Norton on similar charges.

AND DOESN'T WORRY

Doomed GI Improving; Eats Well

FT. WORTH, Texas, July 13.—(INS)—Cpl. James Newman, who has staged a one-man fight against tuberculosis and the ravages of beri-beri, was advised today to "Eat all you can and don't worry about anything."

The wasted survivor of the death march of Bataan and three years in a Jap prison camp also heard joyful news from his doctor, Jack Daly:

"You're better. You're going to improve, but it'll be slow."

The valiant corporal, who defied medical pronouncements by returning to his home for treatment and surviving the trip in his critical condition, has an improved appetite since he returned, according to his mother, Mrs. O. F. Newman.

For breakfast, she said, he had one of those biscuits which he told doctors would cure him, a piece of bacon, orange juice and jelly.

Mother Newman added that he ate several vegetables, a peach and a boiled egg for lunch, while his dinner consisted of okra, sweetbreads, potatoes and gravy, fresh tomatoes and iced tea.

"In between meals he drinks a glass of milk and pineapple juice besides eating some chicken broth," she said.

News Carriers Offer To End Strike

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP)—The Newspaper and Mail Deliverers' Union (Ind.) offered today to end its 13-day strike affecting 14 major New York newspapers if the publishers, who had said they were ready to resume deliveries with or without the strikers' services, would agree to arbitration.

Louis Waldman, counsel for the independent union, said officers had telegraphed the War Labor Board, Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and others a request "that the publishers accept this offer and, upon such acceptance, work will be resumed immediately."

There was no immediate reply from the Publishers Association of New York City which, declaring that newspapers "must and will be delivered," had telegraphed each of the 1,700 strikers that his job would be given to someone else if he failed to return to work.

IKE CLOSES SHAEF COMMAND

PARIS, July 14 (Saturday) (AP) — Supreme Headquarters of the Allied Expeditionary Force, which led the way to victory, passed out of existence at one minute after midnight this morning with an unblemished record of Allied co-operation.

Gen. Eisenhower, the supreme commander, closed up his command with an order of the day expressing hope that the unity achieved in the war would help inspire "permanent and lasting peace."

Girl, 16, and 4 Boys Indicted In Northside Vandalism

A 16-year-old girl and four boys yesterday were indicted by the Fulton county grand jury as a result of the jury's investigation of teen-age pranks and vandalism at the "Pink Castle" and at other north side residences and stores.

The girl, listed as Holly Brumby, 16, of 1882 North Hills avenue, was indicted on a misdemeanor charge of larceny from the house. The indictment charged that she took two bottles of cologne valued at $8 from the home of Mrs. Andrew Calhoun on West Pace's Ferry road on March 10.

CHARGED WITH BURGLARY

Tommy Hubert Willings, 15, of 2230 Peachtree road, was charged with burglary, a felony. Young Willings was charged with taking articles from the Calhoun home on April 23, valued at approximately $65. The articles he was charged with taking were identical with those listed in the indictment returned against three boys last week.

Three other boys were indicted on a misdemeanor charge of larceny from the house. The boys were charged with taking a quart bottle of sparkling burgundy wine, valued at $4.97, from the Wender & Roberts drug store in Buckhead, March 30.

BOYS INDICTED

The boys are James ("Andy") Anderson, 17, of 29 Peachtree avenue; Don ("Red") Woolen (age and address not listed in the solicitor general's files), and John Moehrke, 16, of 16 Arc way.

Young Moehrke Wednesday was jointly indicted with two other boys, charged with shooting dice and betting money in the corridor of the courthouse while they waited to appear as witnesses before the grand jury.

The grand jury's action yesterday will be the final charges made against teen-agers who allegedly visited the "Pink Castle" on numerous occasions, it was learned.

Solicitor-General E. E. Andrews said that 90 per cent of the boys and girls, who were questioned by the grand jury had not entered the Calhoun home.

They either viewed the home from the street, or entered the grounds, he said.

Andrews added that he believed there was no connection between the breaking and entering at the Calhoun home and the malicious mischief which occurred several weeks ago in the Haynes Manor section.

First, there was no particular destruction in the Calhoun home, he said. Only the lock on the front door and a window blind were damaged. Articles were found missing from the home, but no articles were damaged or mutilated.

Second, a young boy who saw three boys in his house was unable to identify any of the northside boys questioned by police and the grand jury, as the intruders. Since the youth lives in the northside and knows the majority of boys in that area, he probably could have recognized the intruders, Andrews pointed out.

Head Opposes Freight Rate Delay Appeal

Atty. Gen. T. Grady Head labeled as "unreasonable and unjust" yesterday a railroad plea for time in which to revise freight rate schedules to conform with the Interstate Commerce Commission's freight rate equalization order of May 15.

In a joint petition filed Thursday the affected railroads—which include all those east of the Rockies—asked that the effective date of the order be postponed from August 30, 1945, to April 1, 1946.

"It has been the policy of the railroads and is today their policy," Head said, "to have a rate-making structure so complicated and so technical that the average business man is confused and lost in undertaking to ascertain rates on any materials to a given point."

Continuing, Head said:

"It is admitted by the railroads that they can refigure the rates by Feb. 15, yet they ask that the new rates not become effective until April 1—45 days later. No person familiar with the policy of the railroads can be surprised at the new request. They have fought every application for a reduction so long and so successfully that they are not now willing to abide by a decision they consider adverse to their interests."

Vets Behind In War Effort Can Be Drafted

Local draft boards are authorized to reinduct discharged veterans who obviously have not made a sufficient contribution to the armed forces, Col. James N. Keelin Jr., director of Selective Service in Georgia, said yesterday.

Col. Keelin said his office had received a number of requests for information concerning discharges generally and conditions under which men may be redrafted.

Outlining regulations governing reinduction of discharged veterans, Col. Keelin listed the following examples:

A registrant might be in one of the Army specialized training programs or Navy college training programs, fail to meet training requirements and be discharged afterer only a few months of service. He would not be considered to have undergone the normal risks as a member of the land or naval forces, or to have made a sufficient contribution to the war effort and would be subject to reinduction.

A man might be discharged from the Navy because he does not meet the eyesight requirements. The Navy's visual requirements are much higher than those of the Army and if such registrants meet the Army visual requirements he would be subject to induction into the Army, less his period of service in the Navy, unless the nature of his service was sufficient to warrant a determination that he had contributed sufficiently to the war effort.

A commissioned officer might, by his own conduct, forfeit his commission and be separated from the service and thus be eligible for reinduction in a noncommission status.

James Roosevelt In Hospital for Rest, Checkup

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 13.—(AP) Marine Col. James Roosevelt, son of the late President, is a patient at the Naval hospital for a "rest and routine physical checkup" after seven months in the Philippines, the 11th Naval district disclosed today.

He was described as "tanned but showing signs of the intensive work" overseas, interrupted briefly by a flight home to attend his father's funeral services, for which he arrived too late.

Length of his hospital stay is indefinite, and depends on the outcome of present medical examinations, the Navy reported. Roosevelt has been operating with an amphibious group at advanced bases.

Truman Resolves Against Big 3 Secret Agreements

ABOARD CRUISER AUGUSTA WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, July 13.—(AP)—Associates said today President Truman will report to congress immediately upon his return from his conference with Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill, where he hopes to develop the groundwork for a permanent European peace.

Mr. Truman is understood to have made a firm resolve against any secret commitments at his first Big Three meeting opening next week at Potsdam, Germany.

The atmosphere aboard this warship took on a more business-like note today as it edged nearer European waters en route to Antwerp, Belgium, where the President will disembark for the flight to Potsdam for sessions opening Monday or Tuesday.

It was reflected in the almost continuous parleys by the President held with James F. Byrnes, secretary of state, and Adm. William H. Leahy, his personal chief of staff.

For crews on this two-cruiser convoy, realistic battle practice was in order most of the morning. The cruiser Philadelphia was sailing within sight of the President's ship.

Both vessels catapulted their scouting planes from their decks in a demonstration for the presidential party.

A rendezvous with a British cruiser and six destroyers which will serve as an escort through British waters, was scheduled for tomorrow.

President Truman has definite, clearcut proposals to make to the British and Russians. He is understood to be ready to offer any reasonable American co-operation in the rehabilitation of devastated countries in exchange for assurances of co-operation among European countries in adjusting differences which might serve as seeds of war.

This objective is second only to the speedy conclusion of the war with Japan to save American lives, in the opinion of the President.

This morning the Augusta went through simulated battle practice, with the crew manning battle stations and fighting fires simulated with smoke bombs.

Simultaneously the two scout planes from the cruiser were catapulted overside for an hour before they landed on the sea and were again taken aboard by cranes.

The crews of the two Augusta scout planes were: Lt. Willard G. Bays, pilot, of Coeburn, Va., and Aircraft Chief Radioman A. J. Rinella, of Portland, Ore.; Lt. Elbert E. Howard, pilot, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Aircraft Radioman Wade Ring, of Valdosta, Ga.

SUB SKIPPER DISCIPLINED

Sinking of Jap Relief Ship, 1,000 Lost, Admitted by U. S.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—The United States publicly acknowledged tonight responsibility for the submarine sinking of a Japanese relief ship Awa Maru which was traveling under an Allied safe conduct guarantee.

The vessel was sent to the bottom by an American submarine which torpedoed it in a fog about midnight April 1, with a loss of more than 1,000 lives. The government has informed the Japanese government that "disciplinary action is being taken" with respect to the sub commander. His name was not given nor was the nature of the discipline disclosed.

The State Department released two notes, the latest in a series which have been exchanged between Tokyo and Washington through the Swiss government. In the first of these the Japanese, under date of May 16, demanded that the United States apologize for the sinking, punish the persons responsible, and pay indemnities for the loss of hundreds of lives of crew and passengers and for the loss of the vessel. There was only one survivor.

The United States replied in a note dated June 29. Tokyo broadcasts indicated today that this note had now been received there.

In it the United States said that it had "already officially expressed its deep regret over the sinking" and the heavy loss of life.

That was the only response to the demand for an apology. At the same time, however, the government said that full investigation shows that the ship "was complying substantially with the conditions of the safe conduct agreement" so that "the United States government acknowledges responsibility for the sinking of the vessel."

It then stated that disciplinary action is being taken against the commander and it proposed deferring the question of indemnity until after the war because of its complexity.

Capital Raid Lands Officials, 5 Women in Net

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(UP) Police today raided an alleged house of prostitution with "a $20 minimum charge," less than two blocks from the White House, and arrested five women and five men, including two "high government officials."

Raven-haired Carmen Beach, 29-year-old former Spanish dancer, was charged with operating and being an inmate of a house of prostitution, known as the Scientific Institute of Therapy, a "massage parlor." Two of the girls were Puerto Rican Negroes.

The government officials were not identified and were released without charges and whisked out the back door of the house. Police refused to let reporters or photographers see them at headquarters where they were questioned.

Lt. Roy Blick, who led eight members of the vice squad and a U. S. deputy marshal into the five-room establishment, said whips, bamboo sticks and braided rawhide thongs, presumably used for flagellation, were seized.

The house was equipped with loudspeaker outlets in each room over which "time" was called. A voice shouted "Police" over the intercommunications system after a U. S. marshal, posing as a patron, gained admittance. Inmates and patrons then scattered in a clothes-hunting scramble.

Arrested with Miss Beach were: Margaret Locke, 57, alias Philomena Lockhart, also charged with operating the house; Judy Hunt, 27, and Mary Karika and Deloris Nieto, both 24-year-old Puerto Rican Negroes.

Blick said the women arrested would be placed under a $2,000 bond.

Georgia WAC Center Closes This week

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—The Third WAC Training Center at Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga., will be closed this week and all activities transferred to Ft. Des Moines, Iowa.

The War Department announced today that the last WAC will leave the post Sunday. Special divisions, such as officer candidate schools, were transferred to the First WAC Training Center at Des Moines earlier this year.

'TO SEE SAILOR'

Girl of 16 Accused Of Forgery

"I did it to get money so I could take trips to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to see a sailor."

That is the explanation a 16-year-old girl gave yesterday, police said, when Detectives R. H. Corley and H. T. Brown arrested her, charging her with five counts of forgery.

The girl admitted, when she offered a check once too many times at a downtown bank that she had cashed five forged checks in amounts ranging from $20 to $45, according to the detectives. She used the names of her mother, her grandmother and another woman, none of whom had accounts at the bank, it was stated.

Death Decreed For Two Nazis Who Slew 3d

American justice will be administered to two members of Field Marshal Rommel's Africa Korps who took the law in their own hands and slew a fellow Nazi whom they suspected of traitorous acts.

They were tried in a court-martial at Fort McPherson, found guilty—and they will be executed.

Military censorship yesterday permitted, for the first time, details of the killing and the results of the court-martial.

The two sentenced to die are Sgt. Eric Gauss, 30, and Pvt. Rudolf Straub, 39. They were convicted of strangling Cpl. Horst Guenther, 23, at a side prisoner-of-war camp near Aiken, S. C., on the night of April 5, 1944.

Testimony brought out in the Fort McPherson trial revealed that Gauss and Straub considered Guenther a traitor to the Nazi cause. They decided upon summary "justice" in the theory that they, as soldiers, could give "legal" orders for the death of one of their number.

It first appeared that Guenther had taken his own life by hanging, but officers of the security and intelligence corps of the Fourth Service Command were not satisfied. They, along with an investigator, sent as routine in such cases, unravelled the truth . . . that the prisoner had been murdered in his tent by strangulation.

Un-American Committee To Study West Coast

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—The House Committee on Un-American Activities decided today to send an investigator to the Pacific coast immediately to check on reports of subversive activities there.

Meeting for the first time with their new chairman, Rep. Wood, Democrat, Georgia, the committee agreed, however, to send only a representative to the area, and not to go itself.

"We will await word from our man, and if he indicates further action is needed we will take it," Wood said. "Meanwhile, we are not going to get all excited about these reports until we know there is basis for them."

Wood added that he did not plan any meetings for the committee until fall and said a determination would be made then whether or not to hold hearings.

Other members said the committee had received many pleas, particularly from California, for an investigation. Rep. Rankin, Democrat, of Mississippi, has stated that a "gigantic plot to overthrow the government" is under way in Hollywood.

Wood, who was elected yesterday to succeed Rep. Hart, Democrat, New Jersey, as chairman, pledged earlier that he would make a "fearless but fair" investigation of reported subversive elements in the nation.

HOME-LACKING WAVE STILL WAITING FOR SOMETHING-OR-OTHER TO HAPPEN

The home-front battle being waged by WAVE Dolly Rose, who is still without quarters for herself and a suddenly acquired four-year-old niece whose mother just died, is still in progress.

Atlantans are urged to man their battle stations and join in the hunt for the elusive prey—a two or three-bedroom apartment or house for the desperate Texans, now turned Georgians.

Yesterday's Constitution first flashed news of the Navy's latest dilemma—a WAVE stationed in Atlanta, overnight designated the foster mother of an orphaned child, and with no place to make a home for her.

Anyone who is successful in tracking down anything at all resembling the object of this citywide search is asked to get in touch with Miss Rose at the Ansley hotel or at her post of duty—Navy Public Relations office, Walnut 5905.

PRE-EMPLOYMENT

Amputees Build Model Airplanes

Wounded men whose last memory of aeronautics was one of bombs, destruction and sudden death saw for the first time in many months yesterday how the airplane could be used in their rehabilitation to a normal life.

The men, all injured veterans at Lawson General Hospital, were participants in Lawson's model airplane show, sponsored by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

Using model airplanes constructed along ideas they gained on dozens of battlefronts, the soldiers displayed many models which stayed in the air for more than 30 seconds. Patients in bed, amputees on crutches and those with arm hooks had spent many weeks in construction of their planes.

The contest was part of an extensive pre-employment training program which enables men to begin learning new trades long before their release from the hospital. By providing work which helps them to master use of their artificial limbs, the program acquaints the veterans with situations they will encounter in civilian life.

First prize, a free round-trip airplane journey for a relative, was awarded to Lt. Ralph W. Hawkins, of Baltimore, Md.

Other prize winners were Pvt. Paul de Lorme, of Worcester, Mass., and Sgt. M. Ash, of Miami, Florida.

DeKalb Probation Office Asked By Grand Jurors

The DeKalb county grand jury considering burglary charges against seven teen-aged youths in connection with vandalism at the Henry Heinz home on Ponce de Leon avenue has recommended in a special resolution the creation of a county probation office.

In a resolution to Judge James C. Davis, of the DeKalb superior court, the jury urged the immediate appointment of a probation officer and "such assistants as may be deemed necessary."

The resolution said:

"We the grand jury, selected, sworn and chosen for the June term, 1945, of the DeKalb superior court, recommend to the Hon. James C. Davis, judge of the DeKalb superior court, that he appoint a county probation officer and such assistants as may be deemed necessary, who shall have supervision and oversight of all probations from the several courts of the criminal jurisdiction of this county."

The probation office, if set up under section 27-2703 of the state code as requested by the grand jury, would include as many officers as Judge Davis believes necessary to handle probated cases. Salaries of probation officers would be paid by the county.

DeKalb county has never had a probation office.

While he would not comment on who he had in mind for the position as probation officer or the salary the office would pay, Judge Davis indicated that he would take the grand jury recommendation under consideration at once. He did not reveal how many men would be necessary to staff the new office.

The grand jury took up the Heinz home burglary matter Thursday. Jurymen read statements obtained by DeKalb Police Chief Leo Nahlik from the seven youths, allegedly admitting two entries into the palatial home, but as yet have made no recommendations. The youths were released under $1,000 bonds each pending grand jury action.

OPA Denies Reports Of Gasoline Ration Cut

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—The OPA tonight spiked reports of a possible cut soon in newly increased gasoline rations.

In a statement, Rationing Chief Max McCullough said:

"OPA is not planning to reduce gasoline rations as long as present allocations are continued."

Civilian allocations have been fixed through September by the Petroleum Administration for War. A reduction during the course of a three-month period would be unprecedented.

Reports of a cut have been based on OPA's statements that consumption is exceeding the daily allocation rate.

Ward Nomination Question May Be Voted On Sept. 5

Atlantans may express their preference on the method of nomination of councilmen and members of the Atlanta board of education in the Sept. 5 primary.

Watson Cary, secretary of the city executive committee, yesterday had a resolution passed by the East Lake Civic Club requesting that the committee revert to the ward method of nominating the dozen councilmen and the six board members, and a special meeting of the committee probably will be called within the next few days to act on the petition.

Signed by A. D. Jones, president, the resolution asks that nomination by all the voters of the city be discontinued and that the officials mentioned be nominated by the voters of the wards which they represent.

Committee members already have voted to seek a referendum in the primary regarding ward nomination of councilmen, but no petition had been filed previously affecting the nomination of board members.

Cary and L. Glenn Dewberry, assistant secretary, said they expect a session of the committee will be called before ballots for the impending election are printed. If any new referenda are to be approved by the committee, it should be done before the ballots are sent to printers, they said.

Atlanta Boy Hurt At Circus in East

Hard luck continues to follow on the heels of Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey Circus. Their jinx sticks close by, no matter where their travels take them.

One of their employes was killed and another, an Atlanta boy, injured Friday as the big show wound up a two-day performance in Schenectady, N. Y.

Richard Turner, 17, of Philadelphia, was crushed to death under a tractor-trailer when he lost his grip while attempting to board the vehicle.

William H. Bridges, 37, of Atlanta, suffered a possible fractured hip when struck by an automobile in a second accident.

THE ACTUAL SCIENCE OF PRAYER

THAT PRAYER — for safety, health, usefulness, happy relationships, progress, satisfaction, or any other legitimate achievement or condition — can be a scientific as well as a religious experience, and therefore unfailing in its results, is clearly shown in Christian Science.

Through growing understanding of such prayer, or treatment, increasing numbers of Christian Scientists in many countries are proving its value and thus are seeing the fulfillment of the Scriptural assurance, "Ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full."

The complete explanation of Christian Science and its healing and enriching prayer is given in the Christian Science textbook,

Tokyo's Time for Decision

Japanese leaders must know by indications which are obvious, not only to them but to all the world, that at the proper strategic moment she will find Russia arrayed among her active war opponents. The mere fact that this country is continuing lease-lend shipments to Russia via the Pacific is alone sufficient to show that the Soviet is a full partner in planning the future steps in campaigns to eradicate Japan as a war menace and drive her from her ill-gotten conquests on the Asian continent.

Knowing that, Japan must, likewise, be aware that her whole situation is untenable. That the only way out of the impasse into which her blind militarism has driven her is by accepting whatever terms of peace the Allies will, at this time, impose. If she does not accept such terms, even to unconditional surrender, she faces not only the utter destruction of her homeland, but the elimination of her forces in Manchuria and China, the loss of every territory she has taken by force, including Formosa and Korea.

The one open channel through which Japan may ask for peace is through Moscow, during this interim before the Soviet declares actual war against her. That time is limited. She must act promptly, or face national death.

It might well be, therefore, when Stalin goes to the coming Big Three conference in Berlin he will carry with him a Japanese offer to capitulate. One thing is sure. Stalin will not carry such an offer to the coming parley, even though made, unless he believes it contains at least a reasonable basis for consideration and reply.

The Railroads Try To Stall for Time

Pursuing their old, old tactics of procrastination and delay, railroads affected by the Interstate Commerce Commission's recent freight rate equalization order have petitioned the ICC to postpone its effective date from Aug. 30 to April first.

It will be remembered that the ICC, in answer to growing criticism the nation over, recently issued an order aimed at alleviating, to some extent, the tremendous differential which existed between freight rates in so-called "official territory" and those in the discriminated-against south and west. Although the inequitable rate structure, which amounts to nothing less than internal tariff walls, averaged a 39 per cent handicap against the south—and even more against the west—the ICC ordered an increase of 10 per cent in class rates in official territory and a decrease by 10 per cent in the south and west. While this far from equalized rates, in short, it was undeniably a step in the right direction.

Now, however, the railroads, which have successfully evaded the issue for years, are again seeking to forestall even a modicum of justice.

It has been their experience that governors and other elected officials who have become exercised about freight rate injustices may, in time and with the proper political assistance, be replaced by others who are, and not without good personal reasons, more favorably inclined toward the railroad trusts.

The ICC has gained in public respect through its recent ruling. It is to be hoped that it will not disillusion the long-suffering south and west by allowing the railroads additional time in which to continue their discriminatory rates.

Rescinding a Violated Contract

In what is believed to be the first action of its kind, the War Labor Board has ordered canceled the contract between the publishers of 14 leading New York newspapers and the striking Deliverers' Union.

Legality of such rescinding of contract must rest in the apparent fact the contract has been violated, at least by one of the parties involved, if not by both. Certainly, when the deliverers went on strike they violated the contract. Whether or not it was violated prior to that remains to be determined by unbiased investigation.

Now, with the contract rescinded, the publishers will be within their legal rights in seeking new workers to replace those who walked out. That such a step may well involve danger of physical violence is apparent.

In the meanwhile, while the two signatory parties to the contract seem unable to compromise their points of disagreement the helpless third party—the general public—suffers through denial of the daily newspapers on which it depends.

The War Labor Board, or any other authority, will be fully justified in any steps it may take requisite to resumed functioning of what is, in larger part, a public utility, the dissemination of news to the reading community.

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters from its readers. They must be signed, should not exceed 200 words.

Good Men

Editor Constitution: I note in your issue of June 21 "Crocodile Tears" from G. M. Morris, of Macon, in which he uses "poppycock," "henchmen," perpetrate" and "peepul," and he makes them all sound bad in referring to Gov. Arnall. I am just a run-of-the-mine guy. I am not in politics, never have been and never expect to be, but I believe in holding onto good men in office in Georgia or elsewhere.

Mr. Morris may have voted for Hoover, Landon and Dewey. It is a sure bet he did not vote for Arnall, but the "peepul" picked our late, lamented President Roosevelt four times and in one election, with the help of the "peepul" he carried every state but two, and I believe his worst haters, critics and enemies would say today he was the greatest man in every way that this century has produced.

I wonder did Mr. Morris note how Mr. Arnall stood the limelight at Mackinac Island. The running was Stassen, Dewey, Arnall. The governors seem to think well of our young governor.

I have never met Mr. Arnall, but I have kept up with him pretty well since his election, and I can say he is a real governor. A young man of courage, enthusiastic worker and a "go-getter." The legislature, in my opinion as one of the "peepul," made a grave mistake. I hope in some way they can yet correct their error. Good men are scarce, Mr. Morris. Let's swing onto a man like Ellis Arnall. J. C. GAVAN.

Rumors Again

Editor Constitution: I noticed on the front page of The Atlanta Constitution this morning that for some unknown reason that the people of Fulton county was far behind in the purchase of war bonds.

The hard business man will purchase war bonds for business reasons only. The average Mr. George Spelvin, who has to dig for his $18.75, knows that this is no unknown reason. As example:

He hears of the thousands working out at the Bell Aircraft, and that they are only turning out a few planes each month to bomb the Japs, if he lives on a street with any length or a small community he hears some housewife going up and down the street telling all that my husband works at the Bell Aircraft and he is being paid $24 or $25 for working on Sunday. He don't know exactly how much the Bell Aircraft pays the employes. He don't know exactly how many planes are being turned out each week, but he does know that no one is worth double time making war equipment for our boys to fight with because the person making this works on Saturday or Sunday.

It would not be necessary to ask the little man to buy an extra war bond, if he did not know of the unnecessary waste and extravagant spending. You newspaper editors could help a whole lot if you had the guts to tell the people about some of the conditions that exist in this country, and our congressmen could help a lot if they had the guts to try and correct some of the bad conditions.

PAUL YOUNG.

Atlanta.

(Editor's Note—It is politely suggested to Reader Young he have the guts to get the facts, not rumors. The Bell plant is producing many planes each month and no one works on Saturday or Sunday and no one makes double time.)

Soldiers' Pay

Editor Constitution: Mr. McCallister, of CIO, maintains that labor has not "fared best in the war" financially as shown in a Gallup poll of public opinion. If the worker isn't faring best, I'd like to know who it is; it certainly isn't the soldier.

An an officer in the U. S. Army, I have paid hundreds of men, and I know what these men are paid and I also know what they do to earn their pay. I paid privates who only got $22.19 for a month's work of 31 days, and I mean it was real work. Some men got as much as $75 and a few got over $100. Their day was often 20 hours long and when it was over they laid on the cold, damp ground, or in a wet, muddy foxhole. Many risked their life every day, and many made the supreme sacrifice. Some lost an eye or an arm or a leg. They spend endless days in the mud—frozen, sick, hungry and wounded. A bath or a bed with clean sheets was something to dream about.

Compare this with the workers' life! How different. Good pay, reasonable hours, good food, good beds, clean clothes and Sundays off or extra pay. And still they strike! These soldiers will gladly exchange places and they'll have no strikes, slow downs or absenteeism. I have the very highest admiration for these men who fought to make your world better from now on. Poor things!

A Fellow Named Bitting Is Exciting

Clarence Bitting was in our town yesterday, and a more interesting fellow you never heard or saw.

He heads up the famous Clewiston farms which are down near Palm Beach, Fla. Palm Beach glamorizes roulette, bathing beauties and society. Bitting has made the sweet potato and sugarcane more exciting.

He took over a sugar company that had gone broke doing things in the old-fashioned manner. While his neighbors laughed, Bitting brought in research men and told them to go to work.

The result is a local cane which produces three times as much sugar as the old cane; a stock food and a starch plant which next month goes into big-time commercial production of starch from sweet potatoes. His acreage yield for sweet potatoes has gone as high as 39 tons per acre and he expects to average better than 20.

He has four pure-bred herds of cattle feeding on his improved pastures . . . white face, Angus, short horn and Brahman. For five years before that he had experimented with Florida range steers and found that his improved pastures added one pound a day. When he moved them in to the finishing pens some put on as much as three and a quarter pounds per day and the average is better than two.

Research On his farms is located the most extensive and best equipped, privately owned research department in the United States. It is the heart of his empire.

They do things like this. They don't employ the usual chemical test of soil. They employ a machine which sounds fantastic. Maybe it is. The usual farmer would think so. And he would be right. But he ought not to think it fantastic that his state agricultural department have one. He ought to think it wrong they don't have it.

The perfect plants are burned between two electric tubes. They are photographed and master charts indicate the proportion of the various minerals in them. Samples of soil are burned and photographed and the mineral contents measured. The machine is called a specto-scope and the cost is around $4,000. You may expect Georgia Tech or the University Extension Service or the State Department of Agriculture to have one or more soon.

All this sounds beyond the reach of the average farmer and, of course, it is. It may sound a little too "scientific" to some, and it is. But it illustrates the fact that applied research has been the greatest lack in the south. Our institutions of research have got to do the job and pass it on to our farmers.

When Bitting wasn't looking I examined him closely. He had no magician's tricks with him. He didn't appear to be a wonder man, although one may assume his mind operates on ball bearings and at a speed better than the average.

The point about him is that with all the financial backing he had he still would have gone broke, as his predecessor had gone broke, if he had not been patient and sensible enough to wait on and accept the results of research.

By-Products When they had ground the cane and made sugar they had black-strap molasses. It was a drug on the market. They were getting some oil out of lemon grass and the residue was in the way. Also it smelled bad. He turned both over to his research men. They dried the grass, ran it through a mill, sprayed it with molasses and found it was a superior feed. They used potato tops the same way.

Then they experimented with beef cattle and found that straight black-strap molasses—kept in specially designed troughs—is something beef cattle like the way kids like molasses on biscuits. So, they get it and it puts on pounds of beef.

They used the potato pulp, once starch is extracted, and made a high-grade feed from it.

The south's got what it takes, he said—all the south needs is to use research and develop a balanced agro-industrial balance.

He has done it. And every time he goes around talking in other places he excites people. Yesterday he excited the Federal Reserve people. And that helps. They will excite others.

Bill Mauldin's Book Has Added Values

Bill Mauldin, the Army cartoonist who has immortalized the GI Joes of the Infantry through his famous characters, Willy and Joe, has gotten out a book. It is titled, "Up Front" and published by Henry Holt & Company, of New York.

The book, of course, contains hundreds of the cartoons. Including quite a few you've seen in the columns of this paper. Also, there is a written, running commentary by Mauldin himself. He starts by apologizing, saying he is not a writing man, but a cartoonist. He needn't have apologized. His writing, as you follow it page by page, in the space left over from the drawings, gradually tells you the story of the men in the ranks in our armies in Europe. You feel, as you read, a dawning understanding of what your boy has undergone in the fight to crush the Nazi world menace. You feel a new pride and a new sympathy for these guys who've lived in mud and cold and misery, who've done the wretched, the dirty work the Infantry always has to do.

If you have a son or husband or brother in the combat ranks of the armies that fought in Italy and France and across Europe, you should buy a copy of Mauldin's book. Read it, and then keep it in a conspicuous place in your living room. So that when he comes home, he'll see it. Then, when he hints that you can't possibly know anything about what he went through, you can show him that book in refutation. For no one can read it and gaze on its drawings without knowing more than a little about the lot of the combat GI.

Laughs and Tears Some of the cartoons will make you chuckle. Some will make your eyes moist. And some will probably make you rather indignant.

Mauldin is the champion of the men in the ranks. He prefers pfcs. to corporals or sergeants. He approves, even though less enthusiastically, those non-coms. Some of the commissioned officers—especially those who sweated it out in the front foxholes with their men—he concedes are worth while, "regular" guys.

And most of the men in the highest rank have his okay. It is the middle and lower rank officers of the rear echelons who get most of his criticism.

F'rinstance: He drew a cartoon showing a sergeant in a rear area raking Willy over the coals because of some infraction of rules about his uniform, when Willy is just back from the battlefront, dirty and weary almost to death.

A colonel saw that cartoon and, completely missing the satire, wanted to have it made into a lot of posters to put up as a lesson in correct appearance for all GIs.

Occasionally Mauldin got into trouble with the brasshats over some of his cartoons.

That doesn't matter. All that counts is he drew a lot of grand pen and ink sketches which, whether they make you laugh or cry, will give you just about the truest picture of the lot of the combat infantry soldier you can find anywhere.

And you'll begin to understand, too, what the boys on the Italian front went through during those long months when progress through the mountains was so slow.

You'll learn why it was slow. And you'll learn why, sometimes, the man in the rain-sodden foxhole was resentful when all the news from his front was "only patrol activity for several days."

As Willy says, in one cartoon, "Who says this isn't the most important hole in the world? I'm in it, ain't I?"

Get the Mauldin book and save it. Even if only as proof, for your homecoming GI, that you did know some reality about what he went through in Europe.

"Government now urging industry to be self-reliant."—News item.

When we are young and immature we need a guiding hand, that's sure,
We must be very gently taught, experience is dearly bought.
And good advice from some old bore who's been along the way before,
May profit us if we delete the chaff and save the precious wheat.
But after awhile there comes a day when we must chart our course and way.
Must stretch our wings and boldly try to see if we, ourselves, can fly.
It thrills us very much to know our government has loved us so
It planned our work and dreamed our dreams and outlined all our lives, it seems.
And like a child that's somewhat dumb we've lived beneath old Uncle's thumb.
Until we often wished to sing, "oh death, oh death, where is thy sting."
We're all bound up with ties and tape until we have a mummy's shape
And freedom has become a word which Webster might define, "absurd."
But now it seems we have a chance to wear our first long pair of pants,
To come at last to man's estate and grapple with our destined fate,
And feel that we are in the clear from that paternal atmosphere,
And shout, before our final bow, "Look, Uncle, I'm a big boy now!"

Letter To the Redhead

My Dear Louise:

As you know, Gen. Patton is again in a row because he spoke his mind to a Sunday school class of children, and some person gifted with eloquence answered him in a Stars and Stripes editorial.

Gen. Patton told the kids they would be the soldiers and nurses of the next war. Of course he should have added, "if there is another war."

But the Stars and Stripes piece made a worse mistake. It said, in effect: "Thirty thousand died following you. When you tell the kids there will be another war, you are saying these 30,000 died in vain."

But this we know by hard experience. In every war we have fought—not excluding this one—many of our boys were needlessly sacrificed because we had fooled ourselves by wishful thinking and were not prepared for war. Our well-meaning pacifists were responsible for every such death. Because of them, the boys had to go into battle untrained and without a fair chance.

War is murder. We all hate it. But the only way to preserve peace is to be strong—whether as one nation or as united nations. Bandits are held in check only where the police are stronger and quick to strike.

We can have peace if we desire it and plan and work for it, and in good will co-operate with others who desire it; but the rich and soft and undefended have invited attack since history began.

GEORGIA EDITORS SAY:

CALL FOR CARMICHAEL

(Cobb County Times)

We've had our political ear very close to the ground ever since the "Recalcitrant 68" in the Georgia house ruled Ellis Arnall out of the 1946 race for governor. Of course, there's a possibility that our present governor will get a chance yet to be the people's candidate for re-election.

But we've been listening to what people are saying and on every hand we hear a call for Carmichael.

And where could the state find a man better qualified to take over the helm in case the rules continue to disqualify Ellis Arnall!

When the Governor wanted someone to overhaul the state's revenue department, he called in Cobb county's James V. Carmichael. When he wanted a new constitution drafted, he named Jimmie Carmichael to the revision committee.

When Col. Carl Cover, manager of the Bell Corporation's Marietta plant, died in an airplane crash, Larry Bell sent Carmichael into the breach. The production record at the bomber plant speaks in itself for Jimmie's capacity to handle the job.

What could be more logical than a "call for Carmichael" when and if the people of Georgia look for a man to fill the breach created by the statutory limitation on the tenure of a governor.

The Times is fully recognizant of the responsible war job which Cobb county's favorite son now holds. We are aware as well that Jimmie has no gubernatorial ambitions and has expressed no desire to run.

But it's well over a year until the 1946 primary. We hope by the summer of 1946 he and other capable statesmen now in industry will be available for public service.

We hope that if his state and his people call, Jimmie Carmichael will be listening.

The Priceless Ingredient...

One of the main things wrong with this country, of course, is too many government restrictions. It's just getting to the place where free enterprise is stifled and initiative to no avail.

Take "Gotu-Kila," for instance. Take it literally, if you want. Gotu-Kila is a new patent medicine which has been selling like couponless-shoes in the Chicago area.

In large measure its success is due, one feels reasonably sure, to the fact that into millions of homes suave-voiced radio announcers can carry the awe-inspiring reminder that "Gotu-Kila spelled backward is Alik-Utog," this being a statement which no other preparation can truthfully make.

Then, too, there is the matter of the results which users are promised. These include, among other things, "curved hips, sharp eyes, velvety skin, pleasing energy and perpetual youth". . . . What, no pearly teeth and luck at cards?

At any rate, as you probably expected, federal men this week investigated "Gotu-Kila" and, killjoys that they are, issued an order that no longer can it be ballyhooed as a source of "curved hips, sharp eyes, velvety skin, etc., etc."

But, despite this federal meddling in private business, "Gotu-Kila" will doubtless go on to greater glory. All its makers will have to do now is advertise the official report of the government's own laboratories. . . .

"MOSTLY SUGAR."

Cabinet Post Talk By Truman, George

WASHINGTON.—It can now be revealed that President Truman discussed with Sen. Walter F. George the latter's availability for appointment to the cabinet as secretary of the treasury prior to the announcement that Judge Fred M. Vinson, the present war mobilization director, had been selected for the post.

The discussion took place at the White House a short time before Mr. Truman went to San Francisco to address the closing session of the United Nations security conference.

Sen. George had called at the White House primarily for the purpose of going over with the President certain legislative recommendations which had been transmitted to the senate finance committee, of which he is chairman.

Mr. Truman brought up the cabinet situation himself. He informed the Georgia senator that he had received a number of favorable endorsements of his name for secretary of the treasury and that he wished to consider him for the post when the time came to make a change. He wanted to know how the senator felt about it and whether he was available to accept the appointment, if it should be tendered.

The Answer Was No Sen. George brought matters to a head by telling Mr. Truman right off that he had not gone there to discuss the cabinet with him. He told him very frankly that he thought he could be of greater service to the administration where he was, in the senate, rather than transferring over to the executive department.

Moreover, he informed Mr. Truman that having served so many years in the senate—some 23—he was afraid he would find it difficult to adjust himself to the administrative functions of the treasury. He made it plain that he would much prefer to remain in his present position.

Sen. George, therefore, asked that he not be considered for the post. He sought to put the President at ease by telling him that in no sense did he wish to be regarded as a candidate for the office.

Just One Request The only request he had to make of Mr. Truman in connection with the post was that he be consulted before an appointment was made. He told the President that the office of secretary of the treasury was so important in relation to the fiscal affairs of the government that care should be used in selecting the right man as a successor to Henry Morgenthau, who has held the post for the past 12 years.

Sen. George wanted to make sure that the successor to Secretary Morgenthau would be a man with whom he and his committee could work harmoniously, the finance body being charged with jurisdiction over all tax and fiscal legislation.

The circumstances of Judge Vinson's appointment were such, however, that the President did not have an opportunity to go into the matter with the senator. Secretary Morgenthau resigned rather suddenly and Sen. George was out of town at the time. The President did try to get him for a conference, but finding him away went ahead with the announcement of Mr. Vinson's selection.

The Georgia senator really never was sold on the idea of going into the cabinet. When his name was first proposed for the treasury place he sought to throw cold water on it by saying he was not sure he would accept the appointment, if it were tendered.

The problems of the treasury department in the postwar period that lies ahead will be such that no man could want to wish that much of a headache on himself, he felt. He was thinking of the refinancing program in connection with the huge war indebtedness we have accumulated. The task promises to be no easy one.

It is for this reason that the senator sought to dissuade Mr. Truman from considering his name. He was really honest in telling friends earlier that the tender of the office would pose a question which he could not decide without some deliberation.

ALL IN THE GAME
JACK TROY

(Editor's Note: While Jack Troy is on vacation, "All In the Game" will be written by correspondents and staff men. Today's is by John Lardner, NANA writer.)

Ferriss Box Office Draw NEW YORK, July 13.—Around Boston lately there has been some talk among the fans that Dave Ferriss, the reasonably sensational rookie pitcher of the Red Sox, should be turned into an outfielder, because of his hitting and all-around ability as a ball player.

Boston, of course, was the scene of the most significant switch of this kind in baseball history, and perhaps the customers are still more than normally pitcher-outfielder conscious, though it is 26 years now since Cousin Egbert Barrow, then doing his thinking in Massachusetts, took George H. Ruth out of the pitcher's box and harnessed the Babe's drawing power to the turnstiles on a daily basis.

If every pitcher-outfielder transformation could have the same financial results, then every pitcher who got himself an occasional base hit would be out there in the orchard, and the club treasurers would do the pitching themselves.

It's true that Ferriss, while no Ruth with the mallet, is a much better than average hitting pitcher and fielding pitcher. It should be remembered, however, that in 99 out of 100 such cases, when the pitcher is also a good pitching pitcher, such transfers fly directly in the face of baseball mathematics. Some experts estimate that pitching is 75 per cent of baseball, and few people will insist that it is much less than that.

In the case of Ruth, who was worth thousands of dollars to his employers every day of the week, it would have been commercial folly to keep him in a position where he appeared on the field only once or twice a week. Ferriss is something else again. To begin with, he is no such draw as Ruth, and neither is anyone else in the game today or yesterday. In the second place, he is the best pitcher on a team which needs pitching desperately and is fairly well fixed in other respects.

If there were two or three Tex Hughsons on the Red Sox this year, instead of just one Tex Hughson and him in Honolulu, the switch of Ferriss to a daily job might be worth debating—though I think most conservative managers would still rather have him in there pitching. As it is, the Sox have got to have Ferriss' pitching to get anywhere at all. He can and does help from time to time as pinch-hitter, the same as Ruth did in the days before Cousin Egbert Barrow's great idea.

In Select Company Ferriss, of course, does draw money at the box office on his own account. The Boston club takes cognizance of this by pitching him on Sundays whenever possible, and there have been two or three occasions this year when slight schedule adjustments have been made to take advantage of his dollar value on week days. The company of pitchers, past and present, who were individual box office draws is a small one, and Ferriss has made it in his first year.

Lefty Grove and Wesley Ferrell used to be advertised attractions, especially when it could be arranged to pit them against each other. The same is true of Christy Mathewson and Three-Fingered Brown. The informality of pitching rotation in the big leagues, and the frequent impossibility of seeing even one or two days ahead as far as a pitcher's chores are concerned, make it hard to book such matches. In recent years Bob Feller was the only pitcher who drew substantial money at the gate by himself.

And could Grove or Feller or Ferrell—though Wes was a good hitter—have drawn money by themselves while playing the outfield Not unless they were George H. Ruth or Tyrus Cobb. Joseph Fortescue Cronin, the Boston manager, has had the good fortune to acquire a fine pitcher practically for free, and if anyone gets Ferriss into the outfield just now it will most likely be over Joseph's cold, dead body.

Seerey Hits 3 Homers, Triple; Ferriss Cops 15

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP)—Cleveland Outfielder Pat Seerey poled three home runs and a triple in six at bats today, tying an American league record for extra base hits in a game, as the Indians massacred the New York Yankees, 16-4. Jeff Heath also smacked two homers for the Indians.

Sports Arena Boys Play Double-Header

The Sports Arena boys' softball team will play a double-header tonight at their home field, meeting the Bell Bombers in the opening game at 7:45 o'clock and then taking on the Georgia Preflight Marines from Athens in the second.

The Bombers and Sports Arena squad are olden rivals and their game is certain to be a ding-dong battle. Following this encounter, the Arena lads will face one of the best teams to appear in Atlanta in the Marines from Athens.

Ed Kersenbrock, former hurler from Omaha, Neb., in the national tournament, is expected to take the mound for the Marines tonight. Thus far this season he has won 11 and lost two, one of his victories being over the strong Warner Robins Field team that beat the Arena ten earlier this year. He beat Robins, 5-1, allowing only two hits.

Crackers Win In 10 Innings, 10-8

By F. M. WILLIAMS,
Constitution Staff Writer.

TRAVELERS' STADIUM, Little Rock, Ark., July 13.—The Atlanta Crackers struggled to their third straight victory over the Little Rock Travelers here tonight, 10 to 8, in 10 innings and increased their lead over the other Southern League clubs to six and a half games.

Johnny Burrows, the third Cracker pitcher, went the last three innings and was the winning pitcher. It was Johnny's 11th victory of the season and his second in as many days over Little Rock.

The Crackers took advantage of some erratic play by the Little Rock club to win the game after going a run behind in the fifth, when the Travelers knocked starter Shelby Kinney out of the box with a four-run splurge.

Lloyd Gearhart, fleet centerfielder, pulled a smart bunt to win the game. Wes Hamner had opened the tenth with a walk and then Howie Roberts, who had three errors at third base, pulled Ray Uniak off first on Tony Ordenana's grounder. Burrows sacrificed both up a base, and then with two out, Gearhart laid down his bunt, which scored Hamner and which resulted in Ordenana scoring also as Pitcher Bellinger threw into right field.

Manager Willis Hudlin, who tied up the game with a single in the ninth after two were out, used every man on his roster except Al Treichel, who is due to pitch tomorrow night's single game.

The Crackers pushed over a pair of runs in the second. Reid singled to start it and Hower pushed a double down the right-field line, sending Reid all the way home from first. Hamner lived on an error by Roberts and Kinney walked to load the bases. Garmendia popped up, but Gearhart drew another base on balls, forcing Hower home.

The Travelers tied it in their half of the second on a single by Rothman, a base on balls to Smith and Arteaga's double to left which Garmendia failed to catch by inches after a long run.

The Crackers got a lucky break and turned it into a run in the third. Reid slapped a single to center, and scored, after two were out, when Gonzales lost Hamner's high fly to center in the lights, letting it fall for a double.

The Crackers made it 3-2 in the fourth when Kinney walked and scored ahead of Garmendia who slapped one to the left centerfield fence for an inside-the-park home run.

The Travelers knocked Kinney out of the box and took the lead in the fifth. Arteaga's grounder was knocked down by Cieslak on a great play, but couldn't be retrieved in time to nab him at first. Embree walked and Mavis doubled, scoring Arteaga. Howard singled, sending Embree and Mavis home. Gonzales singled to right and Sowell relieved Kinney. Both runners advanced a base on Roberts' sacrifice. Barbary was purposely walked and when Rothman hit to Sowell the Cracker pitcher threw high and pulled Hower off the plate, allowing Howard to score. Hamner threw Gonzales out at the plate and Arteaga struck out.

The Crackers went back into the lead in the seventh when Gearhart beat out an infield hit which the Travelers claimed should have been a foul ball. Creeden drew a walk and Cieslak slapped a single to left, scoring Gearhart. Creeden was caught off second base by Pitcher Embree, and while he was being run down Cieslak went to second. Reid hit one between second and first on which Mavis made a great stop and threw to the pitcher, nipping Reid, but the ever-alert Cieslak raced all the way home from second.

The Travelers gave Atlanta a run in the eighth. Smith kicked Ordenana's roller to short and the Cracker shortstop stole second base. Garmendia rolled to third, and when Roberts threw wild to first, Ordenana scored.

Little Rock scored in the eighth. Mavis drew a base on balls and when Sowell's first toss to Howard was outside, Cuyler yanked the young Cracker right-hander. Burrows got Howard and Gonzales, but Roberts hit a sharp single to center, scoring Mavis, who had gone to second on an infield out.

Manager Hudlin put himself in to pinch hit in the ninth, after Smith had doubled, and with two away the Trav pilot came through with a single to left to tie the score, 8-8.

Davis, Gaines Spark Arrow Shirt Win, 6-2

Leonard Moore's Arrow Shirt nine thumped the Bell Local No. 10 team at Marietta Thursday night, 6 to 2, as Harold (Speedy) Davis fanned eight men and limited the foe to six hits. Davis also had two hits in four trips.

Marvin Gaines was the big hitting star for the winners, clouting two triples, a double and a single, one of the triples coming with the bases loaded. Roscoe Fleming and Robert Groover, with two for five each, also aided greatly in Arrow's 13-hit attack on Gantt and Howard.

Black Crackers Win

The Atlanta Black Crackers, after losing two straight to the Cleveland Buckeyes in Atlanta, came back last night to beat the Ohio team, 6-4, in Montgomery, Ala., John Sadler pitching a two-hitter and holding the Bucks scoreless until the sixth.

BOB JONES GOING TO SOUTH AMERICA

MIAMI, Fla., July 13—(AP)—Bobby Jones, internationally known Atlanta, Ga., golfer and attorney, will leave Miami Aug. 12 by Pan American clipper for a six-week tour of South America and the West Indies that will take him to six Latin-American countries and the Canal Zone.

His schedule includes stops in Balboa, Panama, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil and Port of Spain. He will return to Miami Sept. 22.

In Atlanta, Jones said he was going to South America on "purely private business."

Legion Meet In 3d Round

By RUSSELL MUSGRAVE.

The American Legion Junior baseball tournament enters the third round of play at Ponce de Leon Park this morning at 11 a. m. with the West Fulton Owls playing the Gainesville Pirates in the first of a three-game program.

Gate City Cardinals and Post 1 Hurricanes follow at 1 p. m.

The DeKalb Barons and Carrollton, the only undefeated teams in the double elimination Legion tournament, take the field at 3 p. m. in a natural that should attract hundreds of amateur baseball fans. Rain postponed yesterday's slate.

The 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. losers will have lost two games and be eliminated from further play, leaving four teams still in the running.

Lakewood lost to both the Barons and Owls to fall by the wayside.

Carrollton fans and boosters unable to attend the games have a Western Union operator transmitting inning by inning results to the local drug store that dispenses both sodas and Legion baseball results.

O'Connor, Hill Win Tag Bout

In one of the most exciting team tag matches ever staged here, Sailor Barto Hill and Dan O'Connor defeated Rowdy Jack Dillon and David (Green Hornet) Mann last night in the main event of Promoter Paul Jones' wrestling program at the City Auditorium.

Hill put on a "one-man gang" show in winning the first fall, knocking Dillon and Mann around the ring like tenpins before finally pinning Mann in 18 minutes with his favorite hold, the front octupus clamp.

In the second fall, Mann was unable to participate due to the injury to his leg and Dillon had to go it alone. However, Mann stood outside the ropes and handed a ring bolt to Dillon, and the latter floored Hill with it. It did little good, though, for O'Connor jumped into the ring and pinned Dillon after dropkicking him several times.

For his trouble, Mann drew a 30-day suspension from the wrestling commission.

In the opening match, Jack Hader, of Kansas City, won over Charley Harbin, of Atlanta, in 12 minutes with a cobra hold. Nick Carter, the Jacksonville sailor, made his first start in Atlanta a winning one, Dick Lever being disqualified after 17 minutes for rough tactics. Before he finished, Lever had both Carter and Spike Kelly, the referee, bleeding.

In the semi-windup, Dick Shikat rallied just in time to beat Rudy Strongberg, the husky New Yorker, with a body press in 21 minutes. Shikat, apparently, was beaten by a series of body slams and flying blocks, but caught Strongberg off guard and pinned him.

Nelson, Byrd In Semifinals

DAYTON, Ohio, July 13.—(AP)—Golf's No. 1 man, a reformed baseball player, and two of the fastest dark horses you ever saw today roared into the semi-finals of the 27th National Professional Golf tournament.

The man of the hour of course still was Byron Nelson. He was six under par to whip grey-haired Denny Shute, 3 and 2.

Nelson now has been a semi-finalist or better in the last six P. G. A. affairs yet he has only one pro title to his credit.

Sam Byrd, a drawling southerner who once played for the New York Yankees, gave a 7-and-6 beating to Vic Ghezzi.

The dark horses were Clarence Doser, of Hartsdale, N. Y., and Claude Harmon, of Grosse Point Wood, Mich.

Doser was one under par as he slipped past Ky Laffoon, of Miami, Okla., 2 and 1. Laffoon thus became the third straight big name golfer to fall before the sharpshooting Doser. He previously had eliminated Harold (Jug) McSpaden and Toney Penna.

Harmon, playing with a split finger, wheeled in with a four-under-par performance to whip Ralph Hutchison, of Bethlehem, Pa., 4 and 3.

Tomorrow, Doser will be paired against Byrd and Nelson will meet Harmon.

Moran Gets Ace

Roy Moran, with the Atlanta Crackers for six seasons, 1908-9-10-16-17-18, scored the first ace of his golfing career Thursday at Piedmont Park when his No. 6 iron shot plunked into the cup on No. 2, a par 3, 40-yarder. He was playing with John Baswell.

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP)—Cotton futures moved close to the season's best levels today on new commission house buying in the distant months influenced by the lower crop prospects this season. There was some mill covering in the nearby positions against textile orders.

The advance was aided by a lightening in hedge selling. Private services reported mill buying of spot cotton was small during the past week but inquiry for new crop cotton increased by an issuance of the low average report Monday.

FEPC Pact Clears Way for WarAgenciesBill

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(UP) The senate today completed congressional action on the $768,500,000 war agencies appropriation bill which had been stymied for weeks by a deadlock over the Fair Employment Practices Committee.

The measure, carrying funds for 17 wartime agencies, was approved by the senate and sent to the White House only a few hours after final house action.

The long-delayed bill, which normally would have been passed before the 1946 fiscal year started July 1, was the last big issue before the house and a prerecess exodus of members began at once. The senate will remain in session until the world security charter is disposed of.

Senate-house agreement on an FEPC compromise cleared the way for final passage. Both chambers voted to give the controversial agency a $250,000 appropriation to be used either to determine its operations or to finance its work until additional funds are provided.

Funds for the Office of War Information had been another stumbling block but the house and senate finally agreed on $35,000,000, a cut of $8,000,000 under budgetary requests.

Rep. John Taber, Republican, New York, was voted down, 140 to 58, on his motion to send the bill back to conference with instructions to halve the OWI fund.

The senate reluctantly agreed to a house provision which removes fruit and vegetable packing-shed workers from jurisdiction of the War Labor Board. Sen. Wayne L. Morse, Republican, Oregon, former WLB member, denounced it as "the first move in a vicious union-busting program."

The amendment, by Rep. Clarence F. Lea, Democrat, California, was eliminated from the original house bill when it reached the senate. The house insisted, 203 to 103, that it be retained and the senate finally agreed by a voice vote.

The measure also carries funds for such agencies as the Office of Price Administration and the Office of Defense Transportation.

Frayed nerves were in evidence during house debate.

GOOD CHICKS

FINE reports still coming. Practically every mail brings them. From Alabama. "Chicks arrived in good shape 100%. Have not lost a one." "The 500 chicks received from you a short time ago are the best I have ever bought."

THERE is a reason: They are pullorum tested to better than required for the grade. They are hatched right, from big eggs—from good flocks. Big hatches weekly and right on through the summer and fall.

Send Refugees Home, Urges Sen. Maybank

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP) Sen. Maybank, Democrat, South Carolina, urged today that European refugees, along with confined aliens and prisoners of war, be sent home promptly lest they compete for jobs with returning soldiers.

Maybank told the senate he understood there were some 150,000 refugees here who had earned about $800,000,000 not subject to taxation. He added:

"I hope that these aliens, refugees and prisoners of war will not have any possible chance to keep any American hero out of a job."

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS

March 21-April 19 (ARIES)—You will be inclined to have some radical or strange notions previous to 2:49 p. m. that you will want to put into effect immediately, but it will be to your advantage to be content with affairs as they are and not strain at the leash. Do not rush things at this particular time.

April 20-May 20 (TAURUS)—If you are wanting to move, close a real estate transaction, interview older people, sell hardware, see a dentist, or ask a favor of a man in military affairs, try and arrange to do it after 3:59 p. m.

May 21-June 20 (GEMINI)—Previous to 10:15 a. m. you will not only be easily annoyed, but will find that others disturb you and therefore a critical attitude surrounds you. Between 10:15 a. m. and 1:31 p. m. is the most favorable part of the day. After 1:31 p. m. and continuing throughout the remainder of the day appears inauspicious for starting new work.

June 21-July 22 (CANCER)—Continue with your routine duties before 4:05 p. m. and consider carefully before undertaking additional responsibilities. After 4:05 p. m. favors conservative transactions, produce and property.

July 23-Aug. 22 (LEO)—Before 12:42 noon is more favorable for following routine. At this time give more attention to your health. The afternoon and evening hours favor attention to mechanical matters, consulting surgeons or dentists, endeavoring to obtain the good will of people who are haughty, and contacting officials.

Aug. 23-Sept. 22 (VIRGO)—Before 4:04 p. m. favors attention to steady routine and affairs that have an element of duty attached to them. After 4:04 p. m. guard against disagreements, or quick flare-ups.

Sept. 23-Oct. 22 (LIBRA)—During the entire day until 4:51 p. m. favor relaxation. You are apt to run into friction, lack of co-operation, and people are likely to be nervous, in a hurry, and a bundle of nerves. It will be better to try to find some point on which you can agree with people and guard against accidents. Conditions change surprisingly for the better after 4:51 p. m.

Oct. 23-Nov. 21 (SCORPIO)—Sudden and unforeseen changes are apt to occur today, resulting in separations or changes that were not contemplated. This is not an auspicious time to make rash or hasty decisions. The influences tend to high nervous tension, impatience and irritability.

Nov. 22-Dec. 21 (SAGITTARIUS)—It will be more favorable to wait until 9:25 a. m. has passed to ask for favors, for the influences operating previous to this time has a tendency to bring broken promises. Be sure you hold the right mental attitude in dealing with those who are thought of as superiors.

Dec. 22-Jan. 19 (CAPRICORN)—Business and professional changes are not favored today. Before 11:53 a. m. is very unfavorable for the quick consummation of affairs. Avoid confusion, uncertainty and be careful or your associations with those who are at the head of affairs.

Jan. 19-March 20 (PISCES)—Before 5:33 a. m. and after 7:47 p. m. no chances should be taken that can be avoided. Use care in traveling and avoid discussions. Between 5:33 a. m. and 7:47 p. m. favors general business interests and if you will act quickly, you can promote stable plans to success.
